Management Discussion of Fund Performance

Investment Objective and Strategies

The investment objective of the Sprott Focused Global Dividend Class (the “Fund”) is to provide consistent income and capital appreciation by investing primarily in a diversified portfolio of dividend yielding global equities.

To achieve the Fund’s investment objective, the Portfolio Advisor follows a fundamental, bottom-up approach to investing. The Fund will invest in dividend yielding global equities, foreign securities, and other mutual funds and may also:

- invest in American Depositary Receipts, private placements, and indirectly in physical commodities other than gold through investments in commodity ETFs;
- engage in securities lending and repurchase and reverse repurchase transactions as permitted by securities regulations to seek to generate additional income;
- engage in short selling in a manner which is consistent with the investment objective of the Fund; and
- use derivative instruments, such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps, for both hedging and non-hedging strategies.

Risk

The risks of investing in the Fund are described in the Fund’s simplified prospectus. The Fund is suitable for those investors seeking the consistent income and capital appreciation potential of dividend yielding global equities. The Fund is suitable for investors with a medium tolerance for risk and volatility and a medium to long-term investment horizon.

Results of Operations and Recent Developments

The Fund returned 6.4% during the first six months of 2017, compared to a 6.9% return for the MSCI World Index benchmark (in Canadian dollars).

Over the period, the flattening of the yield curve supported equity valuations. The two U.S. Federal Reserve Board interest rate increases, up from one increase in each of 2016 and 2015, established an acceleration in the normalization of U.S. monetary policy. The French election outcome was favourable for equity markets, further reducing political risk in European equities.

The Fund’s underweight exposure to the energy and materials sectors contributed to performance. Significant individual contributors included Cineworld Group PLC and Drillisch AG. Cineworld owns and operates the largest network of movie theatres in the U.K. and has a significant presence in Eastern Europe. The company contributed 94 basis points (“bps”) to performance as it benefited from the strong movie slate in 2017 and from successful acquisitions that increased its scale. Shares of Drillisch (84 bps), a German mobile virtual network operator, appreciated after a takeover offer from another German wireless network operator. The Manager subsequently sold this position.

During the period, the Manager reduced the Fund’s exposure to the financials sector and increased its cash position, both of which detracted from performance.

The Manager also purchased some Canadian energy equities in January, but quickly sold them when the oil price fell and energy equities declined. Although they were small positions, the speed of the decline meant they were significant detractors, collectively, from the Fund’s performance. Spartan Energy Corp. and Canyon Services Group Inc. were the most significant individual detractors (-24 bps and -26 bps, respectively).

The Manager continued to allocate capital to European equities to leverage the decline in political risk in the region.

The Fund’s net asset value decreased by 2.3% during the period, from $32.6 million as at December 31, 2016 to $31.9 million as at June 30, 2017. This change was predominantly due to net share redemption of $2.3 million, offset by net income of $2.1 million. The management expense ratio decreased compared to the prior period.

1 The information is provided as at June 30, 2017 and December 31 of the years shown prior to 2017.

2 Management expense ratio ("MER") is based on total expenses (excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period.

3 The Manager may waive or absorb a portion of the operating expenses of the Fund. Waivers and absorption can be terminated at any time.

4 The trading expense ratio ("TER") represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period. The TER includes dividend expense and securities borrowing expense paid by the Fund in connection with securities sold short.

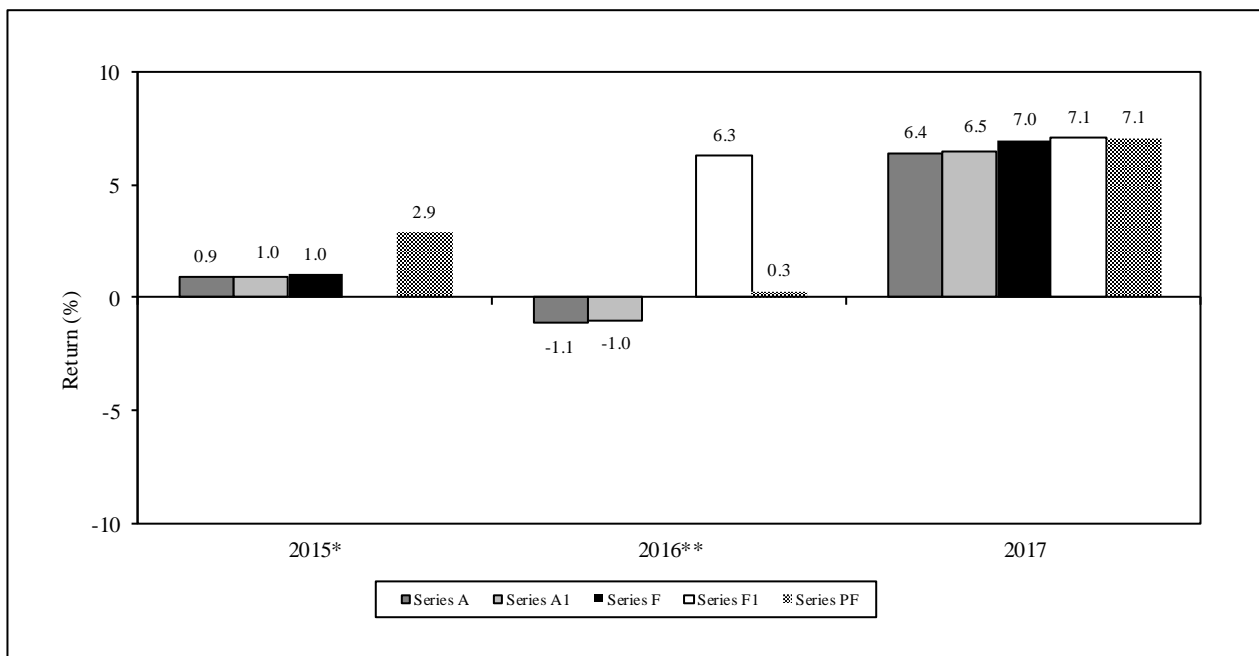

5 The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio advisor trades its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher the Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of the Fund. The portfolio turnover is expressed as a non-annualized percentage.

Past Performance

The indicated rates of return are the historical total returns including changes in share values and assume reinvestment of all distributions in additional shares of the relevant Series of the Fund. These returns do not take into account sales, redemption, distribution or optional charges or income taxes payable by any shareholder that may reduce returns. Please note that past performance is not indicative of future performance. All rates of return are calculated based on the Net Asset Value of the particular Series of the Fund.

Year-by-Year Returns

The following chart indicates the performance of each Series of the Fund for the six-month period ended June 30, 2017 and each of the previous twelve-month periods ended December 31 shown, unless otherwise noted. The chart shows, in percentage terms, how much an investment made on the first day of each period would have grown or decreased by the last day of each period.
